OFFICER HAS FIGHT IN SWAMP

Harry Wagaman, of Hamiltonban Township, in Lively Fight. Two State Police and Two Wagemans the Chief Participants.

Harry Wagaman, of near Cold Springs, Hamiltonban township, was brought to the Adams County jail late Thursday afternoon by State Constable Eiler, after a fight on the mountain in which Wagaman and his father were badly hurt and another state constable, Mason, sustained a broken foot. The injuries of the three men were so severe that they had to be taken to the sanitarium at Mont Alto for treatment.

Wagaman, it is said, has been long wanted by county authorities on a serious charge but township officers who tried to make the arrest never succeeded and the case was referred to the State Constabulary sub-station at Waynesboro.

Mason was sent to the mountain in the morning to look out for Wagaman. He located him, and Sergeant Merrifield, of Waynesboro, was telephoned for, and he, with Private Eiler, went to Tartown and secreted themselves in some bushes. Three hours before, they located Wagaman, his father, Philip Wagaman, and a neighbor making a fence. When Officer Mason informed Wagaman that he had a writ for his arrest the father grabbed up a large pole and rushed at Mason, and the officer shot him in self-defense. Wagaman fell. He quickly got to his feet and tried to assault the officer.

While this was in progress, Constable Eiler covered Harry Wagaman. Officer Eiler was then dispatched to the sanitarium for a buggy, and Officer Mason remained in charge of Harry Wagaman. The latter bolted toward his home. The officer prevented him reaching there and the man hurled several stones at the officer, one of which broke a bone in his right foot.

Then Wagaman turned and ran into a swamp. Mason followed him into the water to his waist, where they grappled with each other several minutes until Wagaman was pulled to the bank. They fought each other until both were exhausted, Wagaman's head being badly battered by the mace of the officer who came off victorious. A lad came along, and Constable Mason sent a note to Constable Eiler requesting him to hurry to the scene. The latter arrived and the prisoner and officer got in the vehicle, but the horse balked. Constable Eiler and Wagaman pulled the vehicle almost three miles to the sanitarium where the wounds were dressed.

State Constable Mason has returned to Waynesboro where he is having his injuries attended to by physicians in that town. Constable Eiler was accompanied here with Wagaman Jr., whose head was swathed in bandages, by another officer, following a hearing before Justice of the Peace Rife. Wagaman Sr. was taken to his home after his injuries were attended to at the sanitarium.

They will be accompanied by the Citizens' Band and will go to the York County Capital in a special excursion train which is expected to take a number of other Gettysburgians.

The parade Tuesday is expected to be the largest ever held at a state conclave. It is believed that fifty commanderies may participate and the number of men to take part is estimated at 3500. A feature will be the massing of the bands and colors at the finish of the line of march.

SAD NEWS

Delegate Attending Convention Called Home by Sad News.

Mrs. Lillie B. Carson, of Pittsburgh, one of the delegates to the convention of the Daughters of Rebekah, was called home on Thursday evening by the sudden death of her husband at four o'clock in the afternoon. Mrs. Carson waited until ten o'clock this morning to start home, going at that time with her friends in the special train for Pittsburgh. When she left home last Sunday Mr. Carson was apparently in fine health and spirits and accompanied the excursion train to the last station in Pittsburgh before leaving his wife. Thursday evening there was difficulty in getting the details concerning Mr. Carson's death but it was finally learned that he had dropped over dead without any warning whatever. Mrs. Carson had been sick in bed for five weeks before coming to Gettysburg.

ODD FELLOWS WERE PLEASED

Manner in which Town Handled Large Convention Made Favorable Impression on the Visitors. Majority have Left.

After enjoying the hospitality of Gettysburg for exactly five days the Odd Fellows and Daughters of Rebekah here for their annual sessions have all departed for their homes taking with them pleasant memories of their stay here.

From the grand officers to the youngest representative, all were unanimous in their praise of the manner in which the town handled the gathering and of the beauties of the battlefield. But one complaint was heard and that a perfectly justifiable one—against the cyclorama where members were seriously in danger of contracting heavy colds and the majority of them were unable to hear any of the proceedings. Either some radical change will have to be made to the building or its use for convention purposes is not to be considered.

The way in which the 1100 delegates to the Grand Lodge and the 500 ladies attending the Rebekah Assembly were cared for in the hotels and boarding houses of the town was remarked upon frequently by members of both bodies who could not understand how a town of less than 4500 population could care for the convention as well, if not better than towns of 12,000 or 15,000. It was the largest convention Gettysburg has had, since the state firemen's convention several years ago, and the town was at no time crowded.

But while we are commenting on the ease with which Gettysburg entertained its guests, it must not be forgotten that the town had one of the finest bodies of visitors it has had for a long time. Seldom does a more substantial body of people visit this historic old place than was here this week in the membership of the Odd Fellows and Daughters of Rebekah. They were a delightful crowd to have visit the town and will always be welcomed upon their return. Business people reported a very profitable week from a financial standpoint and the private homes in which hundreds were entertained will recall with pleasure for many months their friends made during this week.

The Rebekahs' work of revising their constitution caused their sessions to continue this morning after the other body had finished but they too, are now adjourned and the 250 who remained for the last session have left for their homes.

HEAR NOTHING FROM LOST BOY

Thomas Coyle, Living along the Tract Road, Now Missing for Four Months. Friends Fear Some Harm has Come to him.

Although four months have passed since he disappeared, no information of any kind has been received by the family concerning the whereabouts of Thomas Coyle, aged 17, of near Emmitsburg, and his relatives have almost given up hopes of finding him in the near future. It was on Monday, January 20, that the youth was missed. While it is supposed that he ran away from home, fears are now entertained concerning his welfare, as no one seems to have any information about where the boy went or where he has located.

Soon after the supposed runaway, every effort was made to find young Coyle. Relatives were communicated with and earnest efforts made to find where he had gone, but to no avail. As nothing was heard from him day after day, relatives and friends worried, and with no word at this late date it is feared that the youngster has met with a sad fate. It is possible that after some years the missing boy may turn up and put an end to the mystery.

Both young Coyle's parents have been dead for several years, and he had been living with his aunt, Miss Vera Coyle, on the Tract road about a mile and a half northwest of Emmitsburg. He and his younger brother, Lawrence, had been going to school in Emmitsburg, attending the St. Euphemia Parochial School, a Catholic institution, and they would spend the day in the town, taking lunch with them. On January 20 the older Coyle did not return to his home. Where he has been since that time nobody has been able to learn.

Young Coyle is about five feet tall and weighs about 100 pounds. He is of dark complexion, with brown eyes and dark brown hair.

U. S. REPLY FAILS TO SATISFY JAPAN
Disappointed at No Attempt to Nullify Land Act.
DIFFER ON TREATY RIGHTS

War Talk Emanating From Europe Is Not Understood In Tokio, Where Great Reserve Is Shown.
Tokio, Japan, May 23.—The reply of the United States government to the Japanese protest in regard to the California alien land ownership legislation, in saying that it does not involve any violation of the treaty between the United States and Japan, has caused great disappointment in official and other circles here.
The Japanese foreign office considers it unsatisfactory, as it does not mention any intention on the part of the government at Washington to take official steps to nullify the act passed by the California legislature.
The Japanese foreign minister is urging upon Viscount Ginn, Japanese ambassador at Washington, the necessity of pressing the Japanese interpretation of the American-Japanese treaty of 1911.
Secretary of State Bryan's proposal to have the question go to a referendum in California is not received with favor in Tokio, as the result is considered doubtful.
The war talk emanating from Europe and reaching Tokio by cable regarding the controversy is not understood in official and other circles in Tokio. The atmosphere is calm and great reserve is shown.
Some of the newspapers, however, have begun to speak out more freely. The leading daily newspaper, the Osaka Mainichi, finds amusement in what it calls the American fear of Japanese aggression. It says: "All Japan wants for the Japanese is equal treatment with white men. Japan's progress has reached the point where she will no longer consent to discrimination being shown against her subjects."
The general hope is expressed in Tokio that the reply sent from Washington is not America's final word, especially as the United States government by its intervention in California inspired the belief in Tokio that it would adopt strong measures in behalf of the Japanese.
It is believed that the difficulty will eventually be settled by diplomacy, but the question of how Japan is to proceed next is a puzzle to the authorities. Japan is a stranger to the technicalities of the American laws and does not see her way clear to take the initiative in a lawsuit, while national patriotism prevents a formal request that naturalization be granted, which would mean the virtual expiration of Japanese subjects.
Public opinion, however, seems to be in favor of a demand for naturalization as the most feasible means of satisfying Japanese prestige.
The opinion in official circles is that the nation has been led to expect some action by Washington, and if nothing should be done from that quarter the Japanese public, which has remained calm and dignified, is liable to become greatly irritated.

EMPEROR OF JAPAN.
Who is Reported Seriously Ill With Pneumonia.

EMPEROR OF JAPAN ILL
Has Inflammation of Lungs and Eight Physicians Attend Him.
Tokio, Japan, May 23.—Emperor Yoshihito of Japan was taken ill, and the eight court physicians in attendance declare that he is suffering from inflammation of the lungs. He has a very high fever.
The emperor of Japan succeeded his father on July 30, 1912. He is in his thirty-fourth year and has three sons, the eldest of whom is Crown Prince Hirohito, just twelve years of age.
The emperor has previously suffered from lung trouble and in the course of one attack, early in 1908, his condition was very serious.

POISONED BANKER DIES AFTER FIGHT
Battles For Nearly a Week With Poisonous Tablet.

Macon, Ga., May 23.—B. Sanders Walker, the young banker, whose fight against death aroused national interest following the accidental taking of a bichloride of mercury tablet, died at his home here.
Up to the last Walker refused to allow any signs of grief about his home. His last words were tenderly addressed to his wife, who sat at his bedside holding his hand when the end came.
In his last minutes of consciousness when he roused from a heavy stupor in which he had lain, Mr. Walker pressed his wife's hand and said faintly, "I love you, Marie." He never spoke again.
Walker's death occurred almost seven days from the time he accidentally swallowed the corrosive sublimated tablet, lacking only one hour and a half. As long as he enjoyed a clarity of mind his mental state was such that he materially co-operated with the physicians in their heroic efforts to save him, but when uraemic poisoning developed and his brain became clouded he began to sink.
Mrs. Walker, haggard and worn as the result of the week's ordeal, is almost prostrated over the tragic fate of her husband. It has developed that Walker carried life insurance in excess of $15,000.
600-POUND WOMAN DIES
Two Beds, Reinforced, Held Barnum Wonder In Her Fatal Illness.
Chicago, May 23.—Mrs. Mary Peters, weight 600 pounds, who for over twenty years was exhibited as a freak, died at the county hospital, following an operation for the removal of a growth which itself weighed over 150 pounds.
No bed in the institution was strong enough to hold her, and the patient was laid crosswise on two beds, which were reinforced by chairs. A special coffin must be made for the body.
P. T. Barnum gave Mrs. Peters her first engagement and for several years she was an attraction in his side show.
She is survived by three children, who reside in Philadelphia. All are of normal size.

READY FOR ROYAL WEDDING
Czar of Russia Met In Berlin by the Kaiser and King of England.

Berlin, May 23.—The gathering of three emperors—those of Germany, Russia and the British dominions—for the wedding tomorrow of Princess Victoria Louise and Prince Ernest August of Cumberland, has made the German capital the center of European interest.
Beside the three great rulers the only daughter of Emperor William at her marriage is to be surrounded by such a gathering of princes and princesses as rarely has been brought together.
Extensive precautions have been taken for the safety of the royal personages, the Prussian police being assisted by large bodies of Russian and British detectives, while the soldiers at the stations and lining the routes of the royal processions carry loaded rifles.
Emperor Nicholas of Russia arrived in Berlin yesterday. He was met at the station by Emperor William and King George of England and a great gathering of members of the various royal families.

SAY CHURCHMAN STOLE $45,000
John J. Dallas Accused by Philadelphia Jewelers.
SALARY WAS $20 A WEEK

It Is Alleged Books Were Mutilated and Destroyed to Hide His Embezzlement—High Living Caused Suspicion.
Philadelphia, May 23.—Accused of embezzling more than $45,000 from Louis P. White, a wholesale jeweler in the Bard building, John J. Dallas, a former bookkeeper for the concern and treasurer of a church in Ardmore near here, was arrested.
It is alleged by the White concern that Dallas, who had been employed by it from October, 1907, until May 3 that when he was discharged 172 pages were found to have been cut from the current cash book, and that other books had been taken away or were destroyed. Dallas was held in $7500 bail for a hearing.
During the time he was employed by White as a bookkeeper Dallas is said to have received a salary of $20 a week. The detectives who arrested him said that within the last three years he had purchased and paid $15,000 for his home on Athens avenue, Ardmore, and that he had two other properties along the Main Line.
It was also asserted that he kept a motor car and a chauffeur. Dallas is married and has two children.
As the detectives grasped Dallas arm, placing him under arrest, the former bookkeeper asked what charge had been made against him. He was told, and according to the detectives he smiled and asked how much he was accused of stealing.
The head of the detective agency, which made the arrest declared that he had discovered that Dallas had money in four banks. No theory was offered to explain how Dallas could have gotten away with so much money except his activity in real estate investments and his manner of living.
Immediately following Dallas' arrest, attachments were made upon several banks where it was suspected he might have deposits, to prevent any disposition being made of the money. A bill in equity was filed in the Montgomery county courts also, asking that Dallas be restrained from selling any of his real estate.
At the time Dallas was arrested two detectives were in his house in Ardmore, making a search. Mrs. Dallas met them when they arrived with a search warrant, and when informed of the charge against her husband she fainted. Recovering, she gave the key to the detectives. It was asserted afterwards that several valuable papers had been found.
Dallas, it was said, has been a socializer with several building and loan societies. He lived well and was said to be prospering.
Several weeks ago a bomb was discovered in the office of Louis P. White in the Bard building. It was near the desk of Mr. Coates, the general manager, who discovered the fuse burning and extinguished it. Inside the bomb the police found two and a half pounds of black giant powder and a number of loaded cartridges.

TWO COLORED MEN ASSAULT YOUNG GIRL
Coatesville Victim Torn From Escort at Pistol Point.

Coatesville, Pa., May 23.—Two unidentified negroes, who were masked, attacked Mary Burgin, the seventeen-year-old daughter of Charles Burgin of Harmony street, while she and Charles Clayton, an electrician, were on their way home from the circus.
One of the negroes drew a revolver and, pointing it at Clayton, told him to "beat it." Then they dragged the girl into a nearby woods, stifling her screams with a handkerchief as a gag.
Clayton succeeded in finding Henry Miller, a policeman, and they returned to the spot of the attack on a run. The girl was found in an unconscious condition, with her clothing cut to pieces with a knife, and it was apparent that she had made a desperate struggle before the negroes overpowered her.
When she gained consciousness she became hysterical, and it was some time before the men were able to get a description of the assailants. One of the men was short, wore a dark colored suit and a soft brown hat. The other was very tall, dressed in black and wore a black slouch hat. The girl is said to be in a very serious condition.
The police thus far have not been able to get a clue to the whereabouts of the men, although a thorough search is being made. The girl bears a most excellent reputation.

The woman was returning from voters in St. Mary's Cathedral, when the man jumped out from the dark of a building, clubbed her into insensibility and made off with her pocket book down the canal bank before a man sitting with his feet on the rail of his porch opposite even got into action.
The police have arrested two negroes on suspicion of having committed the assault on Mrs. Mara. Both men deny knowing anything about the crime.

FLIES FAST IN WATER-AIR RACE

The First Regatta Between Hydroaeroplanes.

A NECK AND NECK FINISH

Young Philadelphia Aviator Wins Second Place After Exciting Ten-Mile Dash.

Hammondport, N. Y., May 23.—A race of water flying machines between Marshall Earl Reid, of Philadelphia, and Harold F. McCormick, of Chicago, on Lake Keuka, was not only an impromptu water regatta, but a try out for all the fast water flying machines on the lake.

McCormick had with him as passenger L. A. Vilas, of Chicago. Mr. Reid drove his own flyer and carried Miss Margaret Clark, a Rochester society girl, as passenger.

A race between the two flyers was arranged, the course to be twice around the lake, the machines to run either on or within ten feet of the water on the first round, but in the second round each driver could use his own judgment as to the altitude best suited to his machine.

Other owners of flyers at the lake heard of the race, and Raymond V. Morris, of New York, entered his hydro-aeroplane; Beckwith King, of New York, entered his flying boat, and J. Lansing Callan started in a hydro-aeroplane.

The big McCormick boat had things pretty much his own way. Mr. Reid however, was pushing it pretty hard with the others strung out behind. The five machines scouted along a nearly a mile a minute made a pretty sight as they shot down the lake.

At the end of the first ten miles the order stood, McCormick, Reid, Havens Callan, Morris. Running back down the lake on the second leg, Morris passed Callan and was on pretty even terms with Havens as the starting buoy was turned for the second round. Then the outlook changed.

Freud from the restraint of running on the water the lighter machine speeded up considerably and the hydro-aeroplanes were easily able to hold their own with the flying boats, though the latter were handicapped by carrying two passengers where the hydro had only one.

Morris passed Havens and took after Reid, while Reid now flying at about seventy miles an hour was crowding the McCormick boat hard. Reid flew at about 100 feet above the lake, the McCormick boat and Havens being much nearer the water, and the two hydro-aeroplanes with Morris and Callan driving were several hundred feet up.

It was a neck and neck finish between Reid and the McCormick plane. Reid's machine was unquestionably faster in the air, but as the other machine had gained a far lead when running on the water there was little to choose between them as they crossed the finish line.

Morris was coming up fast with his little twenty-six foot racing machine and finished a fairly close third.

STUDY WISCONSIN SYSTEM

Philadelphia Officials Get New Ideas and Want to Adopt Them.

Madison, Wis., May 23.—The district party of Philadelphians and Pennsylvanians, led by Mayor Blanton, of the Quaker City, here to study the work of the State university, had its first lesson on how the Wisconsin institution serves the state.

In a university lecture room filled to overflowing the delegation listened to an exposition of the university's extension work in its various branches. A convocation was held on the campus at noon. This was addressed by Mayor Blankenburg.

"We have attained a new view point," he said. "We have already found that this university is doing for the people what no other university in the United States is doing."

"You are making the best use of your facilities; you are making better citizens of the business men and the workers. You are teaching humans to be humans. After further studying this university we want to adopt what we can of your system."

The work of the extension division was explained by Dean Reber and Professors Lighty, Pettijohn and Gillen.

PLANS U. S. MILL TO MAKE ARMOR PLATE

Senator Ashurst Presents Bill to Erect Plant.

Washington, May 23.—Senator Ashurst introduced a bill in the senate to appropriate $1,500,000 for a government armor plate plant.

The bill would have a board of three navy officers seek a site and report within three months after the passage of the bill. The erection would begin within six months.

This bill threatens to revive the long disputed question of the advisability of the government making its own armor plate, a subject which has been agitated from time to time for a quarter of a century. In view of the fact that Secretary of the Navy Daniels seems favorably disposed toward the plan, it is not unlikely that more than passing consideration may be given to the Ashurst bill.

Secretary Daniels is on record as believing the plan to be practical and as thinking the government at least can undertake the manufacture of armor plate to the extent of forcing the steel companies into actual competition.

Senator Ashurst directed attention to the senate inquiry into the same question in the Fifty-fourth congress. The committee which investigated the subject was presided over by Senator Cameron, of Pennsylvania. Testimony was taken and Secretary Herbert, of the navy, and steel company officials were heard. Mr. Ashurst pointed out that one of the recommendations of the committee was "that a government armor plate factory could be erected for $1,500,000, and that it is expedient to establish such a factory in case the armor plate manufacturers decline to accept such prices for armor as may be fixed by law."

The senator pointed out that various naval experts had expressed the conviction that armor plate could be furnished for $250 a ton.

The Oldest Newspaper Feature in America

If long life for a "feature" is proof of its ability to interest readers, then the Saturday Editorial of the PUBLIC LEDGER holds a doubly distinctive place. Without missing an issue for nearly half a century (since 1869) the Saturday editorial dealing with some topic of everyday philosophy of life, has been a feature of the PUBLIC LEDGER. No telling what might happen if it were once discovered missing—so many people count on it to live by.

Did you see the one on "Sitting in Judgment," last Saturday? Wasn't it true where it said: "There is no danger of overpreaching the beauty of tolerance, in view of our own manifold frailties and shortcomings"? Also where it said: We take an unaccountable delight in finding that some successful person does not loom up on the landscape a whit above ourselves?"

Hard to say what the next one will be about—it's the inspiration of the moment, just before the paper goes to press—but it will be worth while. Each one is good, but different. Are you reading them? Look it up Saturday morning—first one on the editorial page.

An Apron Suggestion.
To make kitchen aprons last twice as long make a seam down the front. Then when the front is wearing thin sew the two sides of the apron together and open the front seam and the apron is practically a new one. To prevent pockets from catching on door knobs and tearing put them on wrong side of apron.

Saving Silk Skirts.
An economical idea to make silk skirts and petticoats wear longer is to stitch a piece of cloth or cotton flannel the exact shade of the silk to the back of the skirt, where it is apt to be kicked out by the heels of the shoes. This has the effect of indefinitely prolonging the life of the gown or skirt.

Cleaning Matting.
When coconut matting has got badly greased scrub it with hot soft soapy water, then rinse thoroughly by drawing it several times through a bath of cold water and brush it over a clean clothesline and brush it well with clean cold water. Allow it to remain there to drain and dry.

MR. BAUGHMAN MAKES REPLY

Otis G. Baughman Answers Contention of Veteran which First Appeared in Akron Paper and Later in the Times.

Otis G. Baughman, of West Middle street, contributes the following letter to the Akron, Ohio, "Beacon Journal," concerning a clipping from that paper which appeared in The Times several weeks ago:

I kindly ask you to allow me space in the Beacon Journal to reply to Mr. Siegfried of Barberton, Ohio, whose communication I recently noticed in an eastern newspaper. It is to be regretted that the old veterans of Barberton and Summit county, Ohio, have rendered a wrong decision without any justifiable cause; they have thus far failed to inculcate into their minds the proper principles and thoughts and to comprehend the true object of the fiftieth anniversary. The veterans of the North and South do not come together in a reunion at Gettysburg in July 1913 to engender strife, hatred and prejudice, nor to fight the battle of Gettysburg over again; they come for a higher, nobler purpose; they come in the spirit of peace, good will, friendship and union and to cement and bind together those same principles stronger than ever. Mr. Siegfried, and his associate veterans, have been misinformed and have formed some erroneous ideas in regard to the Confederate flag; it has been properly decided by the proper authorities that the only flag to be unfurled to the breeze and displayed at the fiftieth anniversary shall be the American flag—the stars and stripes, so that Northern veterans do not need to worry about that part of the celebration. Those tattered Confederate battle flags have long since been stored away as relics, and they will not be brought forth and displayed at the fiftieth anniversary; the Southern veterans, again in the Union, as a united people, knowing that we have only one flag, the stars and stripes, to respect, protect and defend, they have not thought of, nor intimated, much less decided to bring their flags along and display them at Gettysburg. I do not wish it to be understood that I am a Confederate sympathizer. I have resided in the North all of my life, and I have been a good, loyal Union man, before, during and since the war; but I do believe in having due respect for, and giving a people all the credit and honor they deserve. We must not forget that while we had good generals and soldiers from the North in the Spanish-American war, the South also contributed her quota; Southern veterans and their sons enlisted in that war; they marched and fought under the stars and stripes, to protect and defend it and our country; troops from the North and South were led to victory by such men as General Fitzhugh Lee and General Joe Wheeler, who fought against us during the Civil War; this should be conclusive evidence that we are a united people and that the sons of the South will be ready in the future to protect and defend our flag and our country, and give all possible aid to prevent the invasion of a foreign foe. I will say that all veterans, North and South, who deprive themselves of the privilege and pleasure of attending the fiftieth anniversary at Gettysburg on account of erroneous ideas, enmity and hatred, will miss one of the greatest events of their lives and one that they will never witness again; strive to comprehend the great and grand object in view, come in the proper spirit, with good principles, thoughts and actions and all will be most heartily welcome. Again, I say, welcome to the Blue and Gray. One important event that is expected to occur on the historic field of Gettysburg during the fiftieth anniversary, which when completed, will be of interest and a pride to every American citizen and all who in the future visit this historic field. On July 4th, 1913, the fourth day of the anniversary, it has been planned and arranged, that the corner stone shall be laid for a Peace Memorial at Gettysburg. What could be more fitting and proper? How beautiful and impressive to witness the Blue and the Gray, in unison, with one thought, one mind and with true devotion to their country, take part in this ceremony thereby pledging themselves anew to the principles of peace and union. This memorial is to be erected, and dedicated to the whole country, North and South, not to kindle a flame of enmity, hatred and prejudice but to obliterate all animosity, passion, or sectional differences and to commemorate for all time unity, peace, prosperity, good will toward our fellowmen. It will prove to all future generations and to the world that we are at peace with all men; a peaceful, prosperous and a united people.
O. G. BAUGHMAN.

WOMAN KILLS SNAKE

Blacksnake Frequents Nest and is Killed as a Result.

When Mrs. John Bear, of Latimore township, came to gather eggs one evening recently she found a large blacksnake coiled in one of the nests in the chicken house. The snake glided out and disappeared before she could get anything to dispatch it. The next evening the reptile was again in the same nest and when Mrs. Bear came around it crawled up under the roof of the chicken house. Mrs. Bear secured a shot gun and dispatched the reptile which measured five and one half feet.

WHIRL OF THE TORNADO.

Beside it the Rush of the Cyclone is Comparatively Harmless.

An uphill fight for accurate English is being waged year after year by scientific authorities on the weather who object to having the tornadoes which rip through towns now and then carry away isolated farmhouses, called "cyclones." The distinction made by the experts in meteorology is plain, but the public is wedded to the "cyclone."

The word has gained wide acceptance in describing the furious local storms which rush forward along a more or less direct path while they whirl with far greater velocity on a center which may be only a few feet in diameter. If a boy's top is spun on one end of a board and the board is tilted so that the top slides quickly along it, all the while revolving at high speed on its point, the onward sweep of the tornado is closely imitated.

It is the spinning motion which is swiftest and most destructive. The advance of the storm may not be as rapid as that of many a comparatively harmless gale. The twisting motion is estimated at not less than 200 miles an hour in the worst tornadoes.

The true cyclone of the West Indies, the China sea and other parts of the tropics is entirely different. Its force is spent in a furious wind that seems to blow almost straight ahead, while the storm revolves, more or less fully, around a circle the circumference of which may be many hundred miles. A tornado wreaks its fury on a strip of land usually only a mile or less in width. The cyclone sweeps scores or hundreds of miles of sea or shore.

But "cyclone" is entrenched in popular usage as the name of the typical "twister" of this country, and "tornado" has a poor chance.—Cleveland Leader.

SELECTING THE DAIRY BULL CALF

Points that indicate dairy quality in a bull calf are outlined by a correspondent of Iowa Homestead. The writer says:

I want first at least two generations—four are better—of strong, vigorous ancestors backing the calf to be raised. If the calf to be raised is to be used to promote the best interests of dairying, its ancestry must have, in addition to size and vigor, a dairy performance that will warrant the trouble and expense of raising this calf properly, as its future usefulness depends largely on the manner in which the calf is cared for.

At birth the calf should be of medium size, vigorous, active and free from deformities. Full, good sized eyes, with clean cut features, broad between the eyes, dishd out in face below the eyes, broad muzzle, open nostrils, with eight well developed milk teeth. A rather straight and broad back, with well sprung ribs and well proportioned body, with plenty of capacity, is wanted.

Measurement through body just back of front legs should be good, as this is where the heart and lungs are located. They must have plenty of room to do their work if the calf is to prove a vigorous animal.

The value of keeping records and breeding dairy cows for production rather than for pedigree and form was emphasized in a bulletin of the Illinois experiment station. The time has arrived, it says, when the cow which cannot show a good milk and fat record is not desired for breeding purposes by intelligent dairymen. The true measure of the economic value of a cow is her production of milk and butter fat. The cow illustrated is Minna C., a pure bred Guernsey. She has a record of 5,466 pounds of milk and 429 pounds of fat.

orous and prepotent animal, which if he is not he is a failure. I should like the calf to be a fair representative of his breed as to coloring and markings.

I will give some of my reasons for wanting certain points. Brightness, vigor and activity are the prime requisites for prepotency. Large eyes, clean cut features and good space between the ribs denote good nerve force, which every good dairy cow must have. Broad muzzle and open nostrils denote good lung power and appetite. The eight milk teeth are the ones on the front of the lower jaw and when well developed denote vitality.

Four fair sized, well placed rudimentary teats ahead of the scrotum is considered a good dairy indication. The skin should be soft, mellow and oily with yellow color. The inside of the ear also should be oily with rich yellow. This denotes quality in butter fat.

It is very essential that the calf be properly treated and fed, especially in the early stages of his growth. The first four months after birth he should be given fresh whole milk, but not over six quarts per day. Equal parts of oats and bran and some alfalfa or clover hay should be placed where the animal can get at it conveniently. He will soon learn to eat it, and it should be left before him constantly. If the young animal is very fractious a ring should be put in his nose at nine or ten months of age, but usually one year is soon enough. At two years of age he should be deboned and another ring put in his nose. When tending the animal the proper way to use the rings is to fasten the staff to one and a rope to the other.

To be thrown upon one's resources is to be cast into the lap of fortune.—Benjamin Franklin.

THAT TIRED FEELING

Suggests Grandmother's Remedy.

It's true, the season is here with its sudden changes, and the old idea that we need a blood medicine is not without reason. Too much heavy food has caused a torpid liver, sluggish blood, and a weak, tired out feeling.

Sulphur, cream of tartar and molasses was grandmother's remedy but that has long ago been displaced by Vinol, a combination of the two most medicinal curative elements of the cods' liver without oil, and iron for the blood.

Vinol builds you up, makes you eat more and digest better, makes your blood rich and pure—puts healthy color in your cheeks.

P. O. Barker of Bowen's Mill, Ga. says: "When I was badly run down last spring I took Vinol in an effort to regain my health and strength and it did not disappoint me. It made me feel as well as ever." We guarantee Vinol to satisfy you and refund your money if it does not. Peoples Drug Store, Gettysburg, Pa.
